Debaters Association of Victoria Teacher Inservice 2014

A professional development program for teachers and debating coordinators

Monday February 24th
Stamford Plaza, 111 Little Collins St, Melbourne

Debating promotes confidence in oral presentation and teaches structured argument and analysis—skills essential far beyond debating itself. Through debating, students can learn how to work in a team and to argue with confidence and precision. Debating also encourages awareness about the world at large as students grapple with challenging issues.

The Debaters Association of Victoria's Teacher Inservice is an excellent opportunity to learn about debating and to develop the skills to pass this knowledge on to students in classrooms, or coach them to success in competitions. The Inservice will provide an array of useful hints, practical tips, activities, real life applications, and examples.

Who should attend?

Debating coordinators, English teachers, librarians, team coaches and anyone interested in debating.

The Program

The training will include:

- a discussion of the benefits of debating,
- adjudicator's advice on how to prepare and present a case,
- an exhibition debate
- tips on how to adjudicate debates and coach a debating team,
- seminars on dealing with definitional debates, secret topics and using rebuttal to win debates, and

You will also receive a comprehensive set of materials to use throughout the year.

What Previous Participants Say...

The DAV has run similar Inservices since 2003. Teachers from Government, Catholic, and independent schools across Victoria have attended. Some teachers had not seen a debate; others had been involved in debating for decades. Here are some typical comments from those teachers:

"One of the best PD days that I have ever attended. It was very useful and interesting with practical advice on how to conduct debates in school"

"I was extremely impressed by this PD—it was informative, helpful, thought-provoking and well planned. I can't praise it enough!"

"An open and practical session that gave good advice and illuminated some aspects of the mysteries of adjudication"

"Very informative and interesting—As a first year coordinator I feel it's a critical intro into DAV debating"

Program

There will be a choice of two sessions in the morning and two in the afternoon. You are free to choose which you would rather attend, or alternatively to send different staff from your school to each session.

Session Information

Introduction to Debating Charisma Taylor

A beginners' guide to the aims, benefits and rules of debating. This session will cover the format of 3 vs. 3 debating, including the rules of debate, speaker roles and assessment criteria. It will also provide resources and activities for teachers to use to assist students to develop the basic skills involved in preparing and presenting an argument.

Charisma has been the DAV's Executive Officer since 2006. She has been involved in training students, teachers, and adult debaters for the last 6 years. She has co-created and managed pilot initiatives such as the Junior Public Speaking, Primary Schools and Public Speaking programs.

Principles of Adjudication Tom Sutherland

The adjudication sessions will teach how to judge debates in a fair and consistent fashion and will focus on the three key criteria which adjudicators use in deciding debates: manner, matter and method.

The afternoon seminar will provide the basis of an understanding of how debates are adjudicated. By explaining the criteria adjudicators use to judge a debate, the session aims to aid staff in understanding what is required of students. This will ensure that they can make the most of the feedback they are given by adjudicators. We will also cover the exhibition debate, scoring and definitions, and any queries or questions raised by participants in the session.

Principles of Adjudication Tom Sutherland

The morning session will assume prior knowledge of adjudication principles. It will briefly recap what staff will have learnt in past introductory adjudication sessions and extend on that base knowledge with a more comprehensive and in depth look at adjudication criteria. It will explain how the DAV trains adjudicators and the ways in which adjudicators assess, analyse and weigh up the three key criteria.

Tom is the current Vice-President (Adjudication and Training) of the DAV, of which he has been a member for the past seven years, and has run many training sessions for beginning adjudicators as part of this position. In the past, he has also represented The University of Melbourne as an adjudicator at the Australian, Australasian, and World University Debating Championships. Outside of debating, he is presently a doctoral candidate in the Media and Communications program at the same university.

Advanced Debating Strategy (Case development & hard/soft lines) Amit Golder

This session aims to extend on previous debating knowledge. It will look at advanced research techniques and present ideas for enhancing rebuttal. As well as looking at how to improve presentation, we will also examine the principles involved in building a case – hard/soft lines, use of models, and winning definitional debates.

Amit Golder was the Vice President (Schools) of the Debaters Association of Victoria from 2010–2012. He was selected as the captain of the 2009 Australian National Adults Debating team and was a member of the winning team representing Monash University at both the Australasian Interschool Debating Championships in 2010 and the World Universities Debating Championships in 2012. Amit coached the Victorian Schools Debating Team and has also been involved in training secondary school and university students in Melbourne, Hong Kong and recently in Africa.

Exhibition Debate

As well as the four training sessions, we will be running an exhibition debate featuring six excellent former high school debaters. This will provide staff with the opportunity to see a high quality debate and raise any questions or comments they might have on the three key criteria (manner, matter and method), case structure and different styles of debating.

The debate will be particularly useful for discussion in the two afternoon sessions and provide staff a good point of reference for both understanding adjudications and advanced debating strategies.
